Help your students to get aLife after school

Do your students know what they want to do when they leave school? They're not alone. It's a big decision and they need some time to explore their options. The wide variety of careers available can be confusing or even simply bewildering especially as they have to start making decisions in Year 9 and 10.

Recent research has revealed that 82% of young Australians have "no idea" what they want to do with their careers.*

So it's time to get aLife. aLife is an exciting new interactive DVD and website (www.aLife.net.au) that helps your students explore different career options and gives them heaps of information on each career choice to help them make the right decision.

aLife is another tool in your kit to offer to students who are thinking of life after school and disks will be delivered free to every School, University and TAFE across Australia.

Created with the assistance of industry associations and featuring real people working in real careers, they will get to hear it from the horse's mouth – no fluffy bits, just relevant up to date information on real jobs.

To address the skills shortage currently facing Australia, more than twenty of Australia's biggest industry groups – from the Chartered Accountants to the Motor Trades Association - and organisations such as Mission Australia, have banded together to combine their efforts and tackle the problem across Australia.

"The young, enthusiastic and clever team at aLife have created a truly innovative platform to help young people understand jobs and careers", said Kevin Chandler, Co Founder and Director of Chandler Macleod Ltd, one of Australasia's largest and most diverse Human Resource outsourcing and recruitment companies.

aLife takes the format of "a day in the life of a ..." and uses real life examples to give an inside view of a variety of different career options available today, from accountants to boat builders and pharmacists to bus drivers.

The DVD and aLife.net.au contain interviews with people who will let students in on what their career is really like. They will get to learn the good bits, why they chose their career, the opportunities available and their advice to students starting out.

Jason Hodges (Better Homes & Gardens) and Ada Nicodemou (Home & Away) have been through the dilemma of choosing a career and know how hard it is. "I didn't know what I wanted to do when I left school," said Hodges, "I wish I had something like aLife to help me when I was trying to decide what to do."

"There are so many choices and so much to think about, aLife makes it easier to sort through the options and find real information from real people," said Nicodemou.

From aLife.net.au students can receive a mobile download on any career they are interested in and the site will be updated as more interviews on more careers are made. Students can fill in a questionnaire to learn more about specific careers, based on their interests and likes, or hit the random button if they are feeling lucky and see what career turns up.

aLife can help your students make the right decision for their future.

If your school hasn't received copies of aLife by XX, please contact aLife on XX or XX to arrange delivery.
